July 17 Friday

Finished Roll 3 of town from deck shutter loose - tried to screw it up tighter - we'll see

Arrived in Petrozavodsk during the night. Bright sunny morning to see city from deck of ship.

9am bus into town - first stop at Orthodox church where service was going on - the music was richly resonant. The incense pervading - we squeezed in - a totally sensuous experience. Then we went to museum - a good collection generally, and a special collection of icons. very interesting. went to several shops & finally to market - which was pretty sad - Final stop - on the dock - vendors! Slept 1½ hours before lunch.

museum: 2 wood boxes $7

dock: doll $2 egg cup $1

took several pictures of market

Roll 4

After lunch went to 4 sessions: (1) Russian 2 (2) Geography of CIS, (3) History of Russia I, (4) Weather on the 18th century Interesting - but too much ?? (3:30) After dinner spent entire evening on deck watching the gorgeous scenery & getting through Lock 3 Beautiful evening. Full moon came up at 11. Still light at 12.

July 18 Saturday

camera stuck up after #16

Spent the day (until 5pm) cruising through the most magnificent countryside - gently rolling hills, fresh green with darker green hedge rows, here + there cows, haystacks, people scything to build haystacks. Now + then a village - dark weathered wooden houses - no paint - and barns - Next a low stretch of woods - birch, aspen + spruce, tremendous splashes of fireweed in the open spaces next to the water - and then more farmland, houses, cows etc

At 3pm arrived at Goritsy, docked and were immediately besieged with vendors. Walked to bus, rode 4 km thru wonderful countryside, lakes, houses, to Monastery - beautiful walls, towers - brick, stuccoed white - the big thing was the purchase of a Russian Camera Zenith for $40

all pictures overexposed

July 21 - Tuesday

Arrived at KOCTPOMA in the early morning and went ashore for 9:30 tour. Spent 45 minutes in town - great opportunity to see ordinary people, young + old, soldiers, strolling + shopping. Then went to Monastary - the most beautiful iconostasis I have seen - 5 banks tall, each icon surrounded by gold carved like leaves etc Beautiful. The most outstanding thing about Kostroma was the decorated window frames on the wooden houses - wonderful. Unfortunately, no pictures. Ran a huge gauntlet of boys with cards etc back at boat.

took 17 pictures on Russ Camera

Slept in the early pm. Sat on deck in late pm. Lecture on Soviet Leaders by M. Leromnov and then another session with Heather. Took some pictures in evening, including sunset at 9:50 - getty dark at night -

Uglich NTA

cards: Beats HMQs

Meeting town of town and church - walked from boat and as we never caught up with the group we were leaderless - but enjoyed it anyway ; 2 beautiful churches - and a funny little town with a lovely boulevard thru the woods. Many vendors - found out Uglich makes watches so I bought a watch. Also bought a doll from a kiosk

finished roll 12

watch $10
doll $6
laundry 5

Relaxing afternoon on board - wrote cards + watched the world go by. I could stand this for quite a long time —

Festive evening, went to bar before dinner, then had champagne for dinner (the captains dinner) went to sun deck for Captains farewell + stayed for talent show —

Sent in roll 12 Sometime this day

July 23 Thursday

Sat on deck a good part of the morning - our last time to sail as we get to Mockba by noon or so. Sun was very hot - finally moved to Shady Side. Beautiful flat landscape green and green and green. Many people along the sandy banks - fishing, swimming, sauning. More & more the closer we got to Mockba - wonderful pastoral sight. I think there are 5 of us boats cruising down this canal. Had a little trouble getting started with the camera - for one thing, I couldn't figure whether there was film in it?!!

End Roll 2
Beg. Roll 3

After lunch we rallied forth in a bus - with a very good intourist guide. Red Square, St Basil's, the Kremlin - how stunning to see all these places I have seen so often pictured. Thence to the Nunnery of the new Maiden - and cemetery. Thence to an overlook for an all-city view. Lots of peddlers - It got so warm we were all wung out when we got home

July 24 Friday

Felt under the weather
stayed on board all day

ballet in the evening - superb

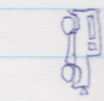
HISTORY HAS NO IF'S - - -



Important influences in Russian development

A 1. Geography - large size 1/6 world's land mass
2. Absence of natural barriers
3. Sparse settlement

B. Mongol invasion - 1200
1 - broke up existing Russian governments (Kiev)
2 - influences of Renaissance not felt

Duke of Muscovy becomes most powerful -
Together the state + the church acquire land

State — late 16th century - peasants not allowed to move
nobility — beginning of serfdom *
peasants — (Ivan the Terrible - reign of Terror)

1590 - 1630 - Time of Troubles
1 - dynastic confusion
2 - peasant uprising
3 - foreign invasion - poland + Sweden

Election of 1st Romanov 1649

* Due to large size + sparse population it was necessary for nobels to garner all the labor it could

18th Century

Peter implements plans to organize + simplify the nobility - which is resisted -

Chasm develops between nobility + masses german influences first. French second nobility lives well beyond their means - loose touch with their people - serfs work 3 days for themselves, 3 days for the master, 1 day for God - nobles take more + more

serf village: commune of homes - land is worked individually but decisions are made collectively (crop rotation, who does what)

1861 - Emancipation

1890 - beginning involvement in industrialism

Thursday 26 August

ΠΛΕΣ - well the English pronunciation of this town is Plus or Ploess - cute town very hilly. In the am we went to a museum devoted to Levitan a Russian painter - nice landscape work and then to another museum featuring both art beginning with costumes and ending with lacquer boxes.

Roll 6 16-22

After lunch the group went walking to the top of the hill. I napped and then went walking around the lower town collecting an entourage of young boys as I went - took pictures + eventually ran into Joe coming down the hill - we went to the 2nd museum which had a wonderful shop but found it closed - found Irma + got invited to tea at the office of the lady from first museum - delightful. Joe went back to ship + I continued to wander - met Olga + we went into an ordinary shop where I bought nice flannel pajamas for $3.

pajamas $3

box $40

Classical music after dinner and then to the bar with the Qs

Friday 27 August

Tour of Yaroslavl right after breakfast - Except for the many parks + trees not much looked familiar. Good tour of several places and then 1½ hrs To Shop downtown

Roll 6 23 - and

3 towels $2

Saturday 28 August

Arrive at Sosenki about noon - it is drizzling out and people are not very enthused about a picnic lunch and I took a walk thru the woods of pine + spruce - a little pink heath in bloom, several mosses, lichen, fungi - beautiful (made me homesick of Canada) we got back to lunch being cooked - lines being formed - good food, beer -

Roll 7
1-

Sunday 29 August

route a bit of the morning spent on top deck -
Arrive Moscow early afternoon after spending most of the am parked at a "green place" Packed after lunch went down to Arbat Street - had 1hr + 15 minutes to shop - not good for me but even so I got a funny cat picture for Alice + some amber beads

picture $10
amber $23

Rushed back to the boat for a half hour dinner and then went to the circus. Different place than last year - down town - but the circus was every bit as wonderful - Such costuming, such color, such insane music, and such preposterous acts!! I loved every minute of it of course and I was especially happy that Henry + Mike were there!

Back to boat - tea + a cookie + then off to bed prepared for the big deal tomorrow - -

ABPOФЛОТ and all that -
